

This article was downloaded by:

On: 5 November 2009

Access details: Access Details: Free Access

Publisher Routledge

Informa Ltd Registered in England and Wales Registered Number: 1072954 Registered office: Mortimer House, 37-41 Mortimer Street, London W1T 3JH, UK

Social Identities

Publication details, including instructions for authors and subscription information:

<http://www.informaworld.com/smpp/title-content=t713445719>

Retraction

Abebe Zegeye

Online Publication Date: 01 January 2004

To cite this Article Zegeye, Abebe(2004)'Retraction', Social Identities, 10:1, 3

To link to this Article: DOI: 10.1080/1350463042000190958

URL: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1080/1350463042000190958>

PLEASE SCROLL DOWN FOR ARTICLE

Full terms and conditions of use: <http://www.informaworld.com/terms-and-conditions-of-access.pdf>

This article may be used for research, teaching and private study purposes. Any substantial or systematic reproduction, re-distribution, re-selling, loan or sub-licensing, systematic supply or distribution in any form to anyone is expressly forbidden.

The publisher does not give any warranty express or implied or make any representation that the contents will be complete or accurate or up to date. The accuracy of any instructions, formulae and drug doses should be independently verified with primary sources. The publisher shall not be liable for any loss, actions, claims, proceedings, demand or costs or damages whatsoever or howsoever caused arising directly or indirectly in connection with or arising out of the use of this material.

Retraction

ABEBE ZEGEYE

It is with regret that I have to inform our readers that Marks Chabedi's article "State Power, Violence, Crime and Everyday Life: a Case Study of Soweto in Post-Apartheid Society" (Volume 9, 3, pp.357-72) was published in that particular form. This article is hereby retracted from publication. Furthermore, I would like to apologize to all those whose work appeared in that article without due recognition and attribution. In addition, I would like to apologize to Mark Chabedi who tried to retract the article. However this was not feasible as the timing of his request was made at a stage in the publication process that made the retraction impossible.

